

Literacy

Reading

Listen to the story 'Man on the Moon: A Day in the Life of Bob' which you can find here:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Rt5zQ1UO6rE>

After the story, check for understanding by asking:

Who was in the story?

Where does Bob live?

Where does Bob work?

What jobs does Bob do at work?

Where does all the litter come from?

Writing

If Bob met one of the aliens, what do you think he would say to them?

Draw a picture of Bob meeting an alien and write down what he would say. Remember to listen to the sounds you can hear in your words and to use your bookmark for help with tricky words!

Expressive Arts & Design

Design your own alien – You could: draw, paint, collage, junk model, use Lego or playdough.

Communication & Language

Discuss the meaning of new or unfamiliar vocabulary when reading the story, such as:

Tourist, suit, astronaut, Mars, Saturn, craters, souvenirs, moonbeams.

Theme:

Space!

Personal, Social, Emotional Development

Bob had to clean up the moon every morning – Your challenge is to help out around the house this week. Make yourself a chart and tick off each day as you complete a task (washing up, tidying room etc).

Understanding The World

Research the moon. How is it similar/different to where we live?

Maths

Draw a diary for a day – Draw and write what you do and the time you do it.

Bob sold souvenirs in his shop – Set up your own little shop and use either real or plastic money if you have it (or make your own pretend money). You can write your own price tags.

Physical Development

Bob and his friends like sandwiches for lunch – Try to make your own healthy sandwiches for lunch independently this week.

Make up your own exercise routine to entertain the space visitors from Earth.

Phonics

Sounds to learn this week:

oo, ar, or, ur, ow

1. Practise saying the sound. For pronunciation, see <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=IwJx1NSineE>
2. Find items containing that sound.
3. Practise writing the sound, on its own and then in words/phrases.
4. Look out for it in your reading!
